TELEGRAPHIC

From our "Postscript" of yesterday

HARRISBURG, 29th

On the Northern and Central Railroad six bridges were burned between Guildsboro and York, a distance of 16 miles Great anxiety is felt for the safety of the Pennsylvania Railroad The enemy's movements show they are endeavoring to reach some 30 or 40 miles west of here

Everything quiet Troops rapidly arriving for the defence of the State

NEW YORK, 29th

A Harrisburg despatch to the World says the report is afloat that Ewell, whose force is over 25,000, is withdrawing in the direction of York It looks as if the whole rebel army meant to operate mainly against Baltimore If Ewell attacks Harrisburg it will be by a flank movement probably, unless the river is too swollen

The change in the army of the Potomac is almost unanimously liked

PHILADELPHIA, 29th

The excitement in this city is intense Until late here to night the streets have been thronged with excited people, eagerly enquiring for news, and enlisting in defence of the city and State — Enlistments are flourishing. All the wards are sending men At the Navy Yard, and at most of the workshops in this city, business is either entirely suspended, or closed at an early hour to allow men to drill, and most of the stores are closed for the same purpose The city no doubt will soon be placed in a state of defence, and the general apathy is succeeded by general activity

MEMPHIS, 26 h,

Advices from Gen Grant's army to noon of the 22d says the siege was progressing vigorously on the 20th

Cannonading was kept up from morning until noon by the army and navy, but elicited no reply from the garrison A large number of buildings were destroyed, but beyond that it is not ascertained that much damage was done

Deserters report Tennessee and Georgia troops much dissatisfied and talk of refusing to fight any longer

Johnston's movements are wrapped in mystery He was last reported moving south His forces are all removed from beyond Big Black

ST LOUIS, 27th

A special despatch to the Republican dated, headquarters army of the Cumberland, 18 miles south of Murfreesboro' says The grand forward movement of Rosecrans army commenced on the 24th and continues Heavy rains made the movement slow but they have been satisfactory All the enemy's force opposite to our advance have been pushed back with severe punishment Col Wilder's mounted infantry had a severe skirmish at Hanover Gap, on the 24th, driving a superior force, inflicting a loss of several hundred killed and wounded, while his own loss was only 40 or 50,

On the 25th a fight occurred at same place between a rebel division under Gen Claybone and Gens Wilkins, Wilders, and Curtis brigades After an hours engagement the enemy was routed, leaving his dead on the field, and part of his wounded, and some prisoners in our hands Our loss is 40 killed, 100 wounded, including 14 officers

[Evening Despatches to the Times]

The forward movement of Gen. Rosecrans—Details of Brilliant Operations—The Army close on Tullahoma—Our Cavalry recapture Gettysburg—The Army moving in that direction.

PHILADELPHIA, 30th

The Washington Star of last evening says It was currently reported in the city that the rebel pickets had made their appearance four miles from Alexandria on the Fairfax road

Headquarters, Army of Cumberland,
Manchester, Tenn, 28th

Gen Reynolds at 8 a m, yesterday, took possession of this place. At 6 p m Gen Granger occupied Shelbyville

The rebels after a slight resistence evacuated their several positions, retreating on the lines of which Tullahoma is the concentratric point

Gen Rosecrans has removed the restrictions on the use of the telegraph. I send a synopsis of the brilliant movements, which resulted with but slight loses to us, in gaining possession of the towns, gaps and fortified lines, lately held by the enemy

The movement was begun on the 24th inst., in the midst of a heavy rain, which has continued ever since with but slight intermission

The enemy's advance posts were found on all the roads leading south, not more than 9 miles distant from Murfreesboro

On the left, Bethel's 1st Kentucky cavalry were driven through Hoobert's Gap to Beech Grove, and had not time to place their artillery in the unfinished works in the Gap Two companies were cut off and scattered among the hills.

Stewart's division moved from Fairfield on the alarm being given, to Beech Grove, and engaged the head of the Thomas corps under Col Wilder A brisk engagement between Wilder's mounted infantry and Bates rebel brigade ensued, in which the enemy attempted to flank us, but were repulsed by the 17th Ind., with heavy loss. Our loss was about 16 killed and 50 wounded

On Friday Gen Rosecrans made a flank movement to the right for the purpose getting upon the Fairfield road and cutting of their line of retreat The reserve brigade had the advance of the flanking force, and made a brilliant and rapid charge upon the rebel brigade of Bates, forcing the rebel left, driving it in great confusion for a mile and causing the rebel right to hastily evacuate the Beech Grove works, retreating in great haste towards Fairfield Col Walker through fear of being flanked by a force apparently moving on the right, but really retreating, failed to move his brigade as far as the Fairfield road and the enemy escaped — They threw away everything but their guns, strewing the country with knapsacks and blankets.

Gen Rousseau pursued them to Fairfield, and the enemy retreated thence to Tullahoma

Gen Reynolds in the meantime moved forward and the next day occupied Manchester, taking 30 prisoners, among whom were three officers

Gen Granger moved forward, finding Polk's corps reported 8000 strong in his front Accordingly to orders, the centre and right kept retired and did not attempt to push the enemy As soon as Manchester was taken and the rebel right turned, the centre retreated and Gen Granger remained quiet, but the rebels, finding he had Manchester, hastily evacuated Wartrace and Shelbyville. Had not the constant rains of the past few days and the difficulties of bad roads retarded our entire advance, we should have succeeded in forcing Bragg from his line of retreat to Tullahoma, and thence toward the river, or compelled him to fight us west and north of Tullahoma

As it now stands, he is safely retreating on Tullahoma

Hardee is on the Wartrace, and Polk on the Shelbyville road They will be in front of Tullahoma tonight, resuming a defensive position and await the attack The army of the Cumberland tonight will be within reach of them and then of what will follow I will be silent

Granger met with a grand reception from the loyal citizens of Shelbyville Flags floating from the buildings of the citizens, and men women and children welcomed with tears and shouts of joy, the flag which they had not seen for ten months, and the most extravagant demonstrations of joy were made

Granger captured 300 prisoners, 20 officers and three pieces of artillery, and then pushed on in the pursuit of the rebel train, nine miles ahead The Unionists estimate Polk's force to be 18,000 then

NEW YORK, 30th

A Marysville despatch, 8 miles from Harrisburg, dated last night, states that slight skirmishing took place in that vicinity, Sunday afternoon and night.

The rebels are said to be opening at Bainbridge to cut the Pennsylvania Central railroad

A Columbia despatch says the rebels have retreated to York, having done some damage to the Northern Central Railroad.

Several spies have been captured and a rebel scout shot while crossing the river

A large number of citizens are in camp here as spectators, were pressed into the service to day

The rebel General Early says he will occupy York permanently

Another despatch says that all is quiet at Columbia

It is believed that Longstreet has opened communication with Ewell at Carlisle, consequently a heavy movement on Harrisburg is expected

Defensive works are being thrown up at Columbia and other exposed points on the river

Two negroes and a white man were killed yesterday when the rebels shelled the town

A Columbia letter of the 29th to the Herald states that several guns were placed in position to defend the bridge, but when the rebels began to approach it was discovered that there was no ammunition for the guns, consequently they were of no service

While the bridge was burning the rebels attempted to save it but were unsuccessful The rebels were plainly visible on the opposite side of the river

There are various reports that the rebels are trying to cross the river at points above and below

The Herald's Washington despatch states that Major Fry with 300 troops left Alexandria Saturday for some point on the Upper Potomac — On Sunday several skirmishes were had, resulting in his falling back, losing two killed and wounded, 16 are missing

The rebel cavalry have since then occupied Rockville They are also reported within 6 or 7 miles of Laurel Factory, between Washington and Annapolis Junction

PHILADELPHIA, 30th

A special to the Inquirer from Baltimore says a train came in this morning from Union Bridge, the Western terminus of the Western Maryland railroad having passed through Westminster No rebels had appeared anywhere during the route

It is ascertained that a large body of federal cavalry reached Gettysburg and took possession of the town, and captured quite a number of rebels

Our army is gradually moving in that direction It is hoped that the rebels will either be captured or made to beat an inglorious retreat

The trains on the Northern Cent al Railroad ran to a morning to Parktown, 22 miles from Baltimore Several bridges have been destroyed north of Parktown

No apprehensions are felt for the Baltimore & Washington Railroad, as it is strongly protected The same may be said of the Wilmington & Baltimore Road

Gunboats are in each of the Gunpowder rivers and at Havre de Grace and Bush river

The defences of Baltimore are now very strong All the negroes that can be found are pressed into the service and made to work in building fortifications.

The cars from Baltimore to Frederick this forenoon were obliged to return after reaching Spesseville, where a force of rebel cavalry were seen tearing up the track and burning the bridges The train narrowly escaped being captured

The steamer Columbia from New Orleans 24, has arrived

The Era of the 23d states that the rebels made another attack on the 20th on the bridge at La Fourche crossing, but were repulsed by our forces guarding it, after a sharp engagement — A train from Thibodeauville narrowly escaped capture

Gen Emory has made most effective measures to thwart any designs of the enemy in that quarter

A deserter from Port Hudson, who escaped to the fleet, reports that the rebel Captain Boon, who was accounted the best artillerist there, had been killed Several other rebel officers had also been killed in both the assaults made by General Banks The rebels state their loss at 1600

When the deserters escaped the rebels had 45 head of poor cattle, which with corn and peas would last 15 days

Further details of the fight at La Fourche Crossing show that our forces were posted in two positions by Gen Emory Our force, less than 1000 strong, under Colonel Stoughey, defended the crossing and were charged upon by the rebel cavalry and an infantry regiment, the rebels actually getting their hands on our guns, but were gallantly repulsed, leaving 53 dead in the field and 16 prisoners in our hands

Lieut Col Walker of the Texas Infantry was killed, and the rebels were allowed to bury him, under a flag of truce

Our forces were waiting to pursue the rebels

The rebel wounded is estimated at 250 our loss eight killed and 13 wounded

In the time of war he duty of every patriot, whether in the army or out, is to sustain the government. Of which its faults, if it has any, where they are not important, correct it where it needs correction, but by no means, politically or morally, encourage treason The government must be maintained; and the men in power must exercise the functions of their offices during the terms for which they were elected — No kicking or growing an change this Let every man make the best of what is unavoidable, and all labor with will and courage to restore the old Union and preserve the old Constitution If these go, order and liberty go with them, and we have anarchy and despotism for ourselves and our children The Union and liberty are inseparable —Newburyport Herald

☞ At the suggestion of Commodore Stribling, the United States sloop of war Saratoga (twenty guns) will sweep her cruise off the Delaware capes, and de end the mouth of the river.

Army Correspondence

Extract of a letter from Lieut Severance of the Massachusetts, who was wounded in the first assault upon Port Hudson

"ST JAMES HOSPITAL June 15th

I suppose you are looking with considerable anxiety towards Vicksburg and Port Hudson, but you cannot feel an item of the anxiety which those do who have once been there, and even upon their earth works, you know little of the fierceness of the contest which is constantly raging at these two places The contest is continual, not only with artillery but with muskets — Our infantry skirmishers advance close to the enemy's works and secrete themselves behind trees and stumps, and thus a continual sharp shooting is kept up

One question has been settled—with regard to negro fighting They have advanced as steadily, delivered their fire as regularly and charged as impetuously, as the average of white troops, they appear to be best fitted for a charge In close quarters they are terrible

Perhaps some would like to know how Colonel Appleton is succeeding with his colored regiment The regiment has not yet been fully recruited, I understand, the officers being now engaged in the labor Perhaps it would be more becoming the dignity of a Colonel to leave a subordinate command and have a kind of general superintendence of those engaged in raising his regiment besides being much more dignified it would be much easier and more agreeable than to march five hundred miles through all weathers, with no transportation for even a change of clothing and then be brought to face the frowning fort of Port Hudson, but Colonel Appleton doesn't see it so, he remains where the most good is to be done, and his company and regiment thus have the aid of a good officer Such acts of devotion to the cause are worth noticing

The loss of our regiment is light, I think but I have been unable to get any full list

Providence seems to be favoring us June which is usually the hottest month has been remarkably cool, and our wounded are having a fine time to recover in All the wounded are doing finely

My wound is in the calf of the right leg—not bad—flesh wound"

Thoughts for the Day.

Under this head the New York Times says, that though the late rebel demonstrations have been, and perhaps still are, properly characterized as "alarming," they are by no means so gloomy as many seem to have supposed. Gen. Hooker has a powerful army in his hands, near Washington. It has such leaders as Sickles, Meade, Sedgwick, Pleasanton, gallant old Methuselah and others, who on a scare of raids have led their troops to battle. At 2, whatever else has failed, the fighting qualities of the soldiers never! Well, then, the Arm of the Potomac, with such spirit to lead it, must count for something when Lee's army invades the North. Will it not be equal to the re cts, and more? We shall soon see. Certain it is, the North need be in no undue hurry. If Lee is coming this way Every day of his advance will place a thicker forest of bayonets in his front and on his flanks. He may think these bayonets will not be held as firmly as his own. Perhaps they will fall back as he advances; but, in any event, his advance will and must stop ere long, and woe to him when it does stop and the retrograde begins! The militia will show their mettle then; and, with the Army of the Potomac in his return path, and an innumerable host of wronged and robbed loyalists in his rear, History will record itself in one of its most terrible stories of invasion ending in irretrievable disaster.

There is certainly, so far, no ground for despondency. We have lost no battle. We have lost no army. We have strength, courage and resources exhaustless. We have not begun to think of final defeat. We are only annoyed by delays and distresses by gigantic movements, the objects and end of which we cannot see nor foresee. We are at once wit's end in guessing—that's all. Let us gird up our loins—take fresh courage, fight the fight of brave men proud of their country and confident of their cause—and when the battle is over, let the rebels, no ye, ask—Where is Lee's army?

SOMETHING FOR OUR FOREIGN-BORN POPULATION TO CONSIDER. If the Southern Confederacy is established, our foreign born population will see by the following, from the Richmond Messenger, what kind of a welcome their countrymen will receive at the hand of a slaveholding aristocracy. The Irish people have had a prejudice against the colored man instilled into them—but let them see how Irishmen will be treated by the men who enslave negroes. The slaveholders' organ says. "No foreigner who comes among us after the war is over should ever enjoy the elective franchise. If we cannot check the spread over our land of this leaven of ignorance and crime which flows in endless issue from the dens of corruption in the marts of Europe, we can at least shut out its awakening effects from the vitals of our body politic. We sadly need, too, a property qualification for native as well as foreigner."

VERY PLEASANT.—Capt. Reed, the commander of the rebel crew which captured the quitter, admitted to a reporter the they, the rebel commanders) obtained much valuable information as to vessels sailing, &c., from the Northern newspapers. It is therefore very pleasant to see such paragraphs as we have now before us in the Boston Post, which describes exactly the size, strength, and armament, number of men and exact time of sailing of the vessels which have been sent from that port in search of the rebel privateers. The rebel captains will know exactly what they can do!—and will be perfectly prepared either to fight or run away. They cannot complain that we do not give them fair notice. Seriously, is it not infamous that nothing can be kept out of the northern newspapers, and that no Union movement, either by land or sea, can possibly be kept from the knowledge of the rebels!

THE NEW POSTAL CHANGE. The amendments to the postal laws will go into effect on and after today, July 1st, when the single letter rate of postage will be three cents throughout the United States. The Pacific rate of ten cents is abolished. An additional rate of three cents will be required for each additional half ounce or fraction prepaid. Local letters will be charged with two cents postage, prepaid by stamps. No fee is to be paid to the carriers thereon. If postage is partly prepaid, the unpaid postage will be charged at double rates.

MAKING THE MOST OF IT. A rogue down east bit an officer's nose off. The local editor expresses it thus: "The delinquent embraced the official in a fierce grasp, making use of his teeth in such a manner as to leave his unfortunate victim destitute of a nasal organ."

THE MEN WHO ARE PROMPT. A company of ninety colored men, raised in six hours, was the first to move from Philadelphia in the defence of the capitol, and three companies of eighty men each, volunteered for the same purpose within twenty-four hours afterward.

☞ It is now said that General Milroy is to be court martialed for not having obeyed orders in evacuating Winchester some days previous to the attack upon that place.

Death of Captain Henry Crosby of Hampden.

HAMPDEN, June 30th, 1863.

Mr. Editor:

I send you a copy of a letter received last evening from Sergeant J. E Joy, of Hampden, Co. A, 22d Maine regiment. It contains some particulars of the death of Capt Henry Crosby of that regiment. The sad intelligence has cast a gloom over our whole community.

Yours, S. W. M

NEAR PORT HUDSON, June 12th, 1863

DEAR WIFE:—Having just received a letter from you, I hasten to answer, but, oh my God, what news! Our dear Captain is mortally wounded. We were on the north side of Port Hudson, and were ordered to advance on the breastworks, supported on our right by the 90 th New York and on our left by the 134th New York. Our Regiment was in the advance, Companies A, E and B thrown out as skirmishers. Our Brigadier made a mistake in ordering our Colonel to advance to the breastworks, when we should have gone only a short distance in order to draw the enemy's fire. Instead of that, we went under the breastworks on he morning of the 11th, through felled timber, about 800 yards, under a heavy fire. Near the breastworks our Captain fell, mortally wounded. We took him to the foot of the hill near a small ravine, where seven of us laid by from daylight till dark, in a few words, where we could not raise our heads without being exposed to the rebel fire on one side and that of our own men on the other. I pray to God that I may never pass such another day. We could not advance, as we were unsupported, owing to the mistake in the order. Imagine yourself lying under a heavy Louisiana sun, with Minnie balls striking all around you; then our loved Captain who never knew fear, and who by his daring exposure of himself, was now weltering in his life blood, dying, without our being able to procure a little lint to stanch the flow of the life current. It happened, however, to have a linen towel, with which I did the best that I could. He was struck below the hip bone, the ball lodging in his body. I asked him where he seemed to be in the most distress. He replied, "inwardly." As I said, there were seven of us with him, beside myself. Oh how we felt for the man, who had been more than a father to us through all our trying scenes, and trying scenes we have passed through, nineteen of company A having died since December. At 8 o'clock in the evening, after I had reconnoitered the ground, we took Captain Crosby in a blanket and started for our lines, our pickets having fallen back. We got in with him at 3 o'clock on the morning of the 12th. Our Surgeon pronounced the wound fatal. Oh what a gloom is on our company, ten of our men missing, our noble Captain dying, our Second Lieutenant wounded in the hand. At roll call twelve men answered to their names.

June 13th—Our Captain is dead, and his remains started for home last night. Ten men have come in this morning, causing us much joy. Port Hudson must fall, but how many of us must fall with it, God only knows.

J. E. JOY, Serg. Co. A, 22d. Me. Regt.

Another correspondent says: "He said, when told that his wound was mortal, "That is more than I expected. But it is a good cause to die in." He had just been offerred the Colonelcy of a colored regiment by Gen Banks. Perhaps no man in his position has ever been more respected and beloved by officers and men.

Chaplain Lincoln writes: "Captain Crosby was like a father to his company. In the discharge of his duties to his regiment there was no man more accurate, thorough or faithful. A truer heart never beat. None were more patriotic or braver." His body is to be brought home."

Correspondence of Whig & Courier.

AUGUSTA, July 30, 1863.

Governor Coburn has just received from Washington the following despatch:

"The Secretary of War instructs me to say in answer to your telegram of yesterday, that the heavy guns for Fort Knox were ordered on the ninth of May; that the Chief Engineer has never noted Captain Casey to mount these guns at once, if they have not already been mounted, and that the Adjutant General will make the necessary detail from the officers and recruits of the 1st Maine Heavy Artillery to garrison the Fort. The Secretary of War hopes that this detail will not be allowed to interfere with the recruiting in your State.

(Signed) E. R. S. CANLEY,
Brigadier General."

Recruiting will be commenced immediately at Fort Knox for the Heavy Artillery, to be stationed as above.

The Secretary of War has also directed that Fort Preble be at once put in a state of efficient defence, and that all the guns shall be placed on Fort Popham at the mouth of the Kennebec, which its present state of completion will admit.

The State has temporarily chartered the staunch steamer "Ella Morse," to be well armed, and ply about the mouth of the Kennebec for the defence of Bath and the navigation of the river.

Col John Davis, Provost Marshal of this District, has completed his enrolments, and is awaiting from the Provost Marshal orders to post up the draft.

Very truly, JOHN SMITH.

Special Despatch

AUGUSTA, June 30, 1863

To S. H. Dale, Mayor of Bangor—

Governor Coburn has received the following despatch from the Secretary of War:

Orders have been given to the Ordnance and Engineer Department to carry out the recommendations contained in your telegraph respecting Fort Knox. The Chief of bureaus report that immediate instructions will be given to that effect. JOHN L. HODSDON.

RUNAWAYS. A horse with the forewheels of a carriage attached, dashed up Main Street yesterday forenoon, and ran into the iron lamp-post in front of the telegraph office, snapped it short off and fracturing the gas pipe connected. He also ran into the chrise of Daniel P Wingate, Esq., breaking one of the shafts.

On the east side of the Kenduskeag, a horse, driven by a lady became frightened and ran into a lamp post, throw ng the lady out, injuring her, but not seriously, as we learn.

ACCIDENT IN BREWER. We learn that Monday afternoon, one of the ship carpenters named George Lucas, in the yard of Master Tewksbury, had the cord of his heel severed by the glancing of an axe in the hands of a fellow workman.

☞ At the regular meeting of the Bangor Division No 14, held June 25th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing quarter:—

Alphonso Patten, W P; George S Walker, W A; H L Barker, R S; Charles Norton, A R S; H Q Norton, F S; B F Ellingwood, T; W K Foster, Chap; H H Carlton, C; Roscoe Hall, A C; H S Granville, I S; John S Kimmball, O S.

☞ Street Commissioner Durgin has commenced the work of grading the public grounds in East Market Square, in front of the Universalist church.

☞ We learn that Paymaster True has been ordered to New Orleans to pay off the Maine and other troops.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN COAN. We regret to learn that Capt Abbot Coan of Company A, Twelfth Maine regiment, died on board the steamer "Empire Parish" on the Mississippi River, May 17th, aged 29. He was a brave and gallant officer. We have received an extended notice which we will publish in a few days.

THE REVENUE CUTTER. The Revenue Cutter Isaac Toucey, Captain Francis Martin, now lying in this port, is attached to the Penobscot Collection District, and is at the disposal of Collector Devereaux. Yesterday afternoon, at the invitation of Captain Martin, Vice President Hamlin made a visit to the cutter, and was received with a salute of nineteen guns. He was accompanied by Collectors Devereaux and Wingate, Mayor Dale, and other gentlemen, and half an hour was spent pleasantly on board.

Captain Martin, although apparently a young man, is old in the navy, having spent thirty two years in the revenue service, and been in almost every port between Texas and Calais. Henry J Benson, an excellent officer, is Lieutenant.

When Collector Devereaux accepted his present office, he found three hundred and eighty-three fishermen licensed from that district. An investigation showed that a large number of those vessels were drawing bounty without leaving their anchorage or catching a fish, and in some cases not even having an existence. Against this illegal practice Collector Devereaux commenced a war, and he has reduced the number to about two hundred and seventy, notwithstanding the threats of parties interested and has saved the government from eight to ten thousand dollars. Captain Martin has proved of great service in ferreting out these cases, and is a very faithful and efficient officer.

The Penobscot District is under most excellent management, and Collector Devereaux is determined not to wear in well doing.

☞ At the Supreme Judicial Court, sitting as a court of law, at Augusta, opinions were announced in the following cases—

PENOBSCOT COUNTY.

'James Smith, Jr., vs John Montgomery. Exceptions overruled.

Peters A. Sanford.

HANCOCK COUNTY.

Erastus Redman vs Alfred Adams. To stand for trial.

Wiswell. Hale.

☞ Dr. John Benson of Newport, has accepted the appointment of Surgeon of the 20th Regiment, and we learn will join the regiment early next week.

☞ In the town of Norway on Saturday last, a town meeting was held at which 300 voters were present, to see whether the town would give $300 each to those men who should be drafted. The article was indefinitely postponed by two hundred and fifty majority.

☞ The ladies of Calais are to have a fair on the 4th of July to raise money to aid in building a City Hall.

☞ The Lewiston Journal learns that it will require 600 men to do the work on the new stone dams, laid out for the season.

Abner C Emery of Co. H, First Maine Cavalry, son of Mr. Joseph Emery of this town, was fatally wounded at the battle of Aldie. He was pierced by five bullets, one of which went through his chest from one side to the other. He was alive when last heard from, but no hopes of his recovery were entertained. When being taken off the field he said, "Tell my friends I was wounded at the front.—Skowhegan Farmer.

NEW YORK, 30th

Passengers per steamer Columbia say that the bombardment had made quite but little impression on the Port Hudson works.

The cautious movements of Gen Banks indicated that he relied less for ultimate success on the troops than it did on supplies in the garrison.

The position of our army was such that the gunboats could co-operate, and still firing had been ceased.

There is said to be a large army under Kirby and Breckenridge in the rear of Gen Banks, whose object seems to be to surround him or cut off his supplies. Magruder's force is estimated at 12,000, and Breckenridge's at 17,000.

Guerillas in the rear, and a large quantity of supplies for Banks's army had been captured.

A strong rebel force had made a raid into Donaldsonville, but were repulsed by our gunboats.

Two steamers were sent from New Orleans on the morning of the 24th, to bring back our troops from Brashear City, in the vicinity of which is a large rebel force.

NEW YORK, 30th.

The Times says—A letter to a gentleman in this city has just been received, from which we give an extract. It comes from a gentleman in the Quartermaster's Department at Fort Hudson under General Banks, and is direct from head quarters. It says—

"The rebel General it commanding in the works at Port Hudson, has offered to parole them on condition he be allowed to go out with side arms and other military privileges. This request was, however, refused on the ground chiefly that the rebel General Gardiner having formerly been a commandant in our Corps, and having been taken prisoner by the rebels, had accepted a command under the Confederate States, we should prefer to beg him and make an exhibition of him than that he should have the opportunity of escaping."

NEW YORK, 30th.

The Times has the following despatch from Headquarters Army of the Cumberland, Manchester, Tenn., 29th—10 a. m.

The headquarters remained at Manchester during yesterday, waiting until the corps of McCook and Crittenden should come up. Meanwhile two divisions of Thomas' corps were sent out to within five miles of Tullahoma, as a corps of observation, to watch the enemy. Wilder's brigade of mounted infantry was thrown out on the flank and rear of Tullahoma, and last evening found the whole of Wilkin's division eight miles south of Tullahoma, at Estell's Springs, guarding the retreat of the rebel wagon trains over the Elk river at that point.

It is found out that Bragg's army is withdrawing from Tullahoma and Chattanooga, and that we shall not be able to get the fight out of him which the men and officers have been so eagerly expecting.

Our movement to the present point has nearly outflanked Tullahoma.

If Bragg should retreat, as vigorous a pursuit as the nature of the country will allow will be made. Troops were thrown forward this morning to harrass their flank and rear.

MANCHESTER, Tenn., 28th.

The Chattanooga Rebel gives the following account of the fight on Wednesday:

From passengers who came down in the afternoon train yesterday, we learn that on Wednesday seven brigades of Gen Rosecrans' army army attacked the brigades of Generals Hazen and Liddell, holding Hoover and Liberty Gaps, our men fought the enemy until their ammunition was exhausted, when they fell back. The movement indicates a grand advance of the enemy's forces, which may result in a pitched battle.

We regret to learn that among the killed in Hazen brigade was Jas. Claybook, and that Gen Liddell lost some estimable officers.

The Rebel in an exultant editorial on the situation says, "At no time within the past two years has the horizon of the Confederates spread in such splendor as now, when from Vicksburg, Virginia, and Middle Tennessee, harbinger days of peace seem to burst in harmonious lustre from the long night of war. To drive Gen Grant out of Mississippi, invest the Yankee capitol from Mary and, invade Pennsylvania, and defeat Rosecrans, are the present objects."

The Rebel think the prospects of the war were never better for the consummation of the legitimate and possible contingencies, and says:

"As we advance on the North, the troubled spirits of the democracy must be told that our object is peace, and that when our independence is recognized, we will lay down our arms. Mr. Vallandigham will tell them so, but at our generals and our government, when we march over their border, proclaims that it is recorded that "Aeneas on his way to hell, threw a sop at Cerebus," does not disdain to throw a little sop to the restless ghosts of democracy."

In another part of the Rebel is a proclamation from Isham G Harris in which he calls for 6000 troops, for six months, from Tennessee, under the provisions of the act of the rebel Congress to provide for loss and special services. The force is to be composed of men over 40 years of age, or such as are not liable to conscription.

MANCHESTER, Tenn., 28th

The Chattanooga Rebel contains the following items—

Jackson, Miss., 24th.

Twenty Yankees captured a train of freight cars at Brookhaven today, and burned it. They then left in the direction of Monticello.

Firing was heard at Vicksburg at 7 o'clock in the evening.

A telegraph from Vicksburg dated the 15th, says the western shore of the Mississippi river, from Milliken's bend to Vicksburg are full of confederate troops. They hold Richmond, Goodrich, and New Carthage.

Reinforcements sent from Washesta have been received by Pemberton and troops are supposed to cross every night.

The Rebel of the 24th editorially says—"On the 22d inst., General Grant attacked us along our whole line, and failed to carry a single earthwork, and was repulsed with a loss of 10,000 men, and is now in full retreat."

The despatch from which the foregoing inferences are, drawn by the Rebel, are by no means conclusive.

PHILADELPHIA, 30th.

The third edition of the Bulletin says there is a report in the city that Gen Butler has been appointed Secretary of War, in place of Mr Stanton.

NEW YORK, 30th.

A rumor is very prevalent in this city that General Halleck has been superseded by Gen'l McClellan.

NEW HAVEN Ct., 30th

The ceremonies attending the funeral of Admiral Andrew Hull Foote, in this city today, were the most imposing ever witnessed in the State. The principle military companies of the State, Governor and staff, State officers, and Members of the Legislature, together with civic authorities of New Haven and Hartford, and officers of the National Government, participated in the solemn pageant. The stores of the city were closed and mostly draped in mourning as were many private residences.

The remains lay in state at the State House, from 10 till 12 o'clock, when it was escorted by a company of Marines. They were borne to the Centre Church, when Dr. Leonard Bacon, assisted by Rev. Drs. Dutton and Cleveland, conducted the services. At half past four the military, commanded by Major General Russell, and the civic procession in charge of Benjamin Noyes, formed in line on Temple street, where some 10,000 citizens had assembled. The pall bearers, Admirals Gregory, Smith Bringham, Davis and Stewart, and Captain Simpson, bore the remains to the hearse, and the procession, after passing through the principal streets amid the tolling of bells and the booming of cannon, escorted the remains of the hero to the city cemetery. At the grave Prof. Harwood read the burial service, when three volleys were fired and the Chieftain's form passed from sight.

NEW YORK, 30th.

A White House, Va., correspondent of the Herald, dated the 27th says our forces landed thereon the 26th, accompanied by four gunboats. Only about 50 rebel cavalry were there, who fled. Our forces captured four prisoners. General Getty's and General Hayes' divisions have arrived, and landed. General Dix and staff arrived at White House on the evening of the 26th.

Colonel Spear returned from his raid to Old Church and Hanover Court House on Saturday morning, bringing General Fitz Hugh Lee, who was delivered to Fortress Monroe, and the rebel Captain Hamilton, a blockade runner, and a rebel Colonel, besides 280 other prisoners.

The rebel train at Hanover Junction, composed of over 100 wagons, containing stores of all kinds, destined for Richmond, including 1000 saddles and bridles, all of which were burned except some 60 wagons, which were brought in.

An earthwork near Hanover was bravely defended by some 60 rebels, who were driven out and mostly captured.

Captain Crosby has arrived to take command of the gunboat fleet.

CINCINNATI, 30th

A committee of the city council and citizens had an interview with Major General Burnside last night, in relation to the defences of the city. The committee adjourned without action to meet again this morning.

There was a general suspension of business at Columbus yesterday. A meeting was held at the State House, which was addressed by Gov. Tod, who said he had information that it was the design of the rebels to enter Chip within the next month. A committee of citizens were then appointed to draft a plan of action and raise volunteers for home defence.

The Commercial of this city has a special despatch from Central Kentucky, which says matters on the Cumberland river wear a threatening aspect.

The rebels are reported to be in force at Albany. They are said to number 15,000.

The rebels are commanded by Pegram and Marshall, who are preparing to enter Kentucky from the Walker and Cumberland Gaps.

The advance of the rebel force entered Columbia yesterday.

The character of the rebel movement is not yet fully developed, but those in command of our forces are confident of their ability to repel any attack the enemy are likely to make.

BALTIMORE, 30th.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was repaired last evening. The train which left this forenoon for Frederick and Harper's Ferry has gone through without interruption.

The rebel cavalry which yesterday attacked a company of the 1st Delaware cavalry at Westminster, and drove them to the city was doubtless the advance guard of Lee leading his way across the country to enable them to join the rebel army in the vicinity of York and Gettysburg. They had found that longer delay on the line of the Baltimore and Frederick turnpike and railroad would not be safe in view of the movement of Gen Meade, and were making rapid march across the country.

It is supposed by many that the alarm given last night of the approach of the enemy towards the city in considerable force, was merely a ruse to test the earnestness of our citizens for saving ...orous defence. This, however, was not the case. Signal rockets 20 miles out announced the movement in the neighborhood of Westminster of a large cavalry force of the enemy. This was undoubtedly Fitz Hugh Lee's cavalry, which crossed the Potomac Sunday forenoon. We are in hopes they were intercepted on their march to Pennsylvania by a portion of General Pleasanton's cavalry sent in pursuit of them.

WASHINGTON, 30th.

A man dressed in a U S uniform was arrested today at Annapolis Junction under such circumstances as to justify his incarceration in the old Capitol Prison on suspicion of being a spy.

The capture of commissary stores by the rebels on Sunday morning took place six miles this side of Edward's Ferry, and not at the Ferry as reported.

A careful examination of the banks of the Potomac shows that their has been no attempt recently by the rebels to obstruct its navigation, nor is there any indications whatever of such a purpose.

A letter from the Army of the Potomac, received tonight, says General Meade's appointment is well received everywhere and that he is now employed in arranging his plans for the future, ably assisted by the chiefs of the various departments who served under former commanders of this department.

Our troops are now in position to repel an attack or at once assume the offensive.

PHILADELPHIA, 30th

Jay Cooke the Subscription Agent, reports the sale of $1,805,000 in 5-20's at agencies in Boston and Philadelphia. The receipts from the West have been delayed by non-arrival of the mail. This mode of disposing of the loan has proved so successful, having reached over $140,000,000, that the Secretary of the Treasury will probably continue for a brief period the sale of the loan through the present popular medium of sub-agencies. Should he determine to do so the announcement will be made tomorrow.

ALBANY, 30th.

Governor Seymour has ordered Inspector General Miller to go to New York immediately, and organize 20 regiments in that city and Brooklyn. They will be drilled in artillery as well as infantry practice, with the view of placing them in fortifications.

CHICKASAW BAYOU, 25th, via Cairo, 30th,

Port Hudson has not been taken. General Grant was deceived by a false report to that effect given out before the boat sailed. The report was brought by the Arizona.

Firing here has been quieter in consequence of the intense heat. We have gained possession of another fort on the left.

PHILADELPHIA, 30th.

Fifty rebel prisoners from Harrisburg arrived here today.

HALIFAX, 30th.

U. S. gunboat Hunga, Capt. Devens, has put in here for coal.

OXFORD, Chester Co., Pa., 30th.

The excitement at this point is increasing. The merchants are moving away their goods.

Advices to the 26th.

General Logan Rescues a For... and turns the Guns upon the Enemy.

From Harrisburg and Vicinity.

CHICAGO, 30th.

A special Memphis despatch of the 29th says, steamer New Kentucky brings news from Gen Logan's division at Vicksburg, which had taken an important fort from the enemy. He mined and blew up one corner on Saturday. This produced a breach in the walls, through which our troops entered. The rebels fought with reckless courage, but were forced to yield.

Gen Logan has already mounted two heavy guns.

Gen Grant continues to contract his lines and is daily making nearer approaches to the enemy's works.

CAIRO, 30th.

The despatch boat General Lyon, from Yazoo Landing morning of the 26th, has arrived.—There had been fighting all day Thursday in the rear of Vicksburg, and at night one of the rebel forts was blown up, causing terrible concussion.

The General Lyon was fired on at Cypress Bend on her way down by a rebel battery. The fire was returned and the rebels driven off with a loss of several killed and wounded.

BALTIMORE, 30th.

The American learns from citizens of Westminster who arrived this forenoon, that the 1st Delaware cavalry made most excellent fighting with sabres and revolvers, but were forced to retire by overwhelming numbers. A number were wounded on both sides. There were not more than 60 of our cavalry in the fight, and it is feared the greater part of them were killed, wounded and captured. Not more than 15 of the 250 in the command have reached the city.

Chas Darwin, at the request of Gen. Schenck has placed two gunboats near the end of Broadway, and one at the bridge on the west side of the city in admirable positions to bear upon the city and its approaches.

Martial law having been declared General Schenck has issued orders forbidding the sale of arms or ammunition without a permit and forbidding persons leaving the city without a pass, until further orders.

NEW YORK, 30th.

A Harrisburg despatch to the Herald says a portion of Lee's army had advanced down the valley towards Shippensburg.

General Ewen has moved to Troy and on the flank of the rebel advance before Harrisburg.

The enemy has been driven back 9 miles from Mechanicsburg.

It is reported that Gen Pleasanton and our forces in the vicinity of Gettysburg have captured a rebel train four miles long.

A man from Chambersburg who passed through the rebel forces, says Longstreet's and Ewell's corps are retreating.

Gen Ewen is advancing west to ascertain the whereabouts of the rebels.

NEW YORK, 30th.

A despatch to the World from Harrisburg says Lee is probably withdrawing towards York.

HARRISBURG, 30th.

A skirmish took place at 9 o'clock this afternoon near Mechanicsburg, between our advance and some rebel cavalry, who had two pieces of artillery. We had four guns. The firing was kept up quite briskly for sometime, when the rebels were forced to retreat. The new troops behaved well.

HARRISBURG, 30th.

He states that all the rebels, 9000 strong, left there this forenoon for Gettysburg. On his way he met nothing but cavalry pickets.

Yesterday their arrived at Carlisle 100 prisoners, which the rebels had captured at Gettysburg.

The rebel officers say they would not burn the barracks as they expected to return, but at 3 o'clock this afternoon a loud explosion was heard in that direction, and it supposed they were burned up.

It is believed the main body of the rebels is in the neighborhood of Shippensburg. The rebels stated their destination was Harrisburg, but thought it probable they might be compelled to fight the army of the Potomac before accomplishing their object.

New York, 30th.

A special to the Tribune from Manchester, Tenn., today, says our whole army is now concentrated at that point, and waiting upon Tullahoma as fast as the unsettled condition of the roads permits.

It is certain that the enemy is in strong force at Tullahoma, but the question whether the enemy will contest our advance there is still unsettled.

LARGE SALE OF FURNITURE

On Thomas' Hill.

AT AUCTION!

J. B. FOSTER, Auctioneer.

On Wednesday, July 15th, 1863

I SHALL SELL all the Lots now unsold, on the Southerly side of James Street (as per Plan of Lots made for J. W. Lowe, Esq., and recorded in the Penobscot Registry of Deeds, book 3, page 77)—beginning with Lot No. 1, adjoining the residence of Silas Bailey, on Union Street.

Lots No 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, front on James Street, and run back 100 feet, to an alley 16 feet wide. Lot No. 1, is 60 feet on James by 100 feet on Union St. Lots 2, 3, 4, and 5, are 77 by 100 feet. Lots 6, 10 11, 12 and 13, are on the Easterly side of Thomas Street—and all but No. 13, are 75 by 100 feet. No 13, has a front of about 200 feet on James Street—and on Ohio Street about 300 feet, and adjoins the premises of Horatio Fisher, Esq.

To a resident of the city, these Lots need no commendation. The range has only to examine, to admire them. There is no locality in the city that offers so many attractions for residences as Thomas' Hill. Already, two of the most elegant mansions in the city have been erected there, and it cannot be long before all the vacant Lots will be taken up and occupied. These Lots combine the advantage of convenient proximity to the city with the retirement of the country. The view from Thomas' Hill is beautiful and grand beyond description.

This sale offers a rare opportunity to any one desirous of securing a desirable location for building, and to the speculator who wants to invest where he can be sure of a profit.

The sale will be positive. One-quarter of the purchase money to be paid down; the balance on, any time to suit the convenience of the purchaser—not exceeding four years—with interest.

A Plan of the Lots can be seen, by calling upon the Auctioneer, or upon J. W. LOWE.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

This peculiar taint or infection which we call SCROFULA lurks in the constitutions of multitudes of men. It either produces or is produced by an unhealthful, impoverished state of the blood, whereon all that is most loathsome in disease and most fatal in its results depends. Under the influence of this foul poison the vital forces in their strenuous action, and severe the system to all into disorder and decay. The scrofulous contamination is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered digestion from unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all by inherited infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parent to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children." The diseases it originates take various names, according to the organs it attacks. In the lungs Scrofula produces tubercles, and finally Consumption; in the glands, swellings which suppurate and become ulcerous sores; in the stomach and bowels, derangements which produce indigestion, dyspepsia, and liver complaints; on the skin, eruptive and cutaneous affections. These all having the same origin, require the same remedy, viz., purification and invigoration of the blood. Purify the blood, and disease dangerous distempers leave you. With pure, full or corrupted blood, you can not have health, with that "life of the flesh" tainted, you cannot have scrofulous disease.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

is compounded from the most effectual antidote that medical science has discovered, for the afflicting distemper, and for the cure of disorders it entails. That it is far superior to any other remedy yet devised, is known by all who have given it a trial. That it combines virtues truly extraordinary in their effect upon this class of complaints, is fully proved by the great multitude of unbought and remarkable cures it has made of the following diseases: King's Evil or Glandular Swellings, Tumors, Ulcers, Pimples, Blotches and Sores, Boils, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter, Scald Head, Coughs from Colds, Debility, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Asthma, or Indigestion, Syphilis and Syphilitic Infections, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weaknesses, and, indeed, the whole train of complaints that arise from impurity of the Blood. Minute reports of individual cases may be found in AYER'S AMERICAN ANTIDOTE, which is furnished to the druggist for gratuitous distribution, wherein may be found the directions for its use, and some of the remarkable cures which it has made in all other remedies has failed to afford relief. These cases are purposely taken from all sections of the country, in order that every reader may have access to some neighbor to bear witness to the benefits from trial and experience. Scrofula depresses the vital energies, and thus leaves its victims particularly subject to disease and its fatal results in unhealthy constitutions. Hence it is that it shortens, and does greatly shorten, the average duration of human life. The public are justly weary of these considerations having to spend years in perfecting a remedy which is adequate to its cure. This we now offer to the public under the name of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, although it is compounded of the best remedial alterative power. By its use many protect yourself from the suffering and danger of these disorders. Purge out the foul corruptions that rot and fester in the blood, and the causes of disease, and dangerous distempers leave you. With the, foul or corrupted blood, you can not have health, with that "life of the flesh" healthy
